FOREWORD

This pamphlet was developed by the Oklahoma Real Estate Contract Form Committee which was created by the legislature in 2001. The Committee was to create real estate purchase and/or lease contracts and related addenda for use by real estate licensees. The Committee consists of a total of 11 members: three (3) from the Oklahoma Real Estate Commission; three (3) from the Oklahoma Bar Association; and five (5) members from the Oklahoma Association of REALTORS.

The information in this pamphlet is dedicated to the residential sales contract and related addenda; however, the information in the pamphlet would also be useful for portions of the New Home and Vacant Lot contracts and related addenda. This publication does not constitute legal advice. Legal advice should be sought from competent legal counsel.

First Printing, March 2006

Oklahoma Residential Sales Contract Information Pamphlet

Bolded italic words are defined at the end of this pamphlet.

The Offer Negotiations to purchase a home begin when the Buyer makes a written Offer to purchase the Seller's home. The Seller may accept, reject or make a Counteroffer to the Buyer's offer. The offer may go back and forth until both parties have agreed to all terms in writing, and the document has been delivered to both Buyer and Seller (or their Broker as authorized.) At this point, the offer becomes a Contract.

During the Offer and Counteroffer process, the Listing Broker (if applicable) is required by law to continue presenting all offers to the Seller up until the time the Seller accepts an offer in writing. Further, during the offer/counteroffer process, the Seller may withdraw the Seller's counteroffer and accept another contract if the Seller's counteroffer has not been accepted and signed by the Buyer and delivered back to Seller, or if authorized, Listing Broker. Likewise, Buyer may withdraw Buyer's offer and purchase a different property if the Buyer's offer has not been accepted and signed by the Seller and delivered back to Buyer, or if authorized, Selling Broker. All items of a Contract are negotiable between the Buyer and Seller.

Prior to the Buyer submitting an Offer, the Buyer should try to obtain a Conditional Loan Approval from a valid lending institution. This will assist the Buyer to determine the Buyer's housing price range. It is not a guarantee that a loan will be given; however, it does check the Buyer's credit worthiness and known history. A Buyer or Seller should not confuse this with a Final Loan Commitment that can not be obtained until just prior to closing to ensure all of the Buyer's financials are considered.

The Contract consists of the Contract form and any related addenda and/or attachments. Once signed by both Buyer and Seller, the contract is valid and binding upon each party — if the contract is not understood by either party, the party should seek advice from an attorney. Each party, both Buyer and Seller, should read the entire contract and related addenda and attachments. The Contract must be executed by original signatures of the parties or by signatures as reflected on separate identical Contract counterparts (carbon, photo, fax or other electronic copy).

Legal Description [1] area should contain the legal and physical property address. The contract, unless altered, shall include all fixtures and improvements, and all appurtenances, subject to existing zoning ordinances, plat or deed restrictions, utility easements serving the Property, including all mineral rights owned by Seller unless expressly reserved by Seller in the Contract and excluding mineral rights previously reserved or conveyed of record (collectively referred to as “the Property.”)

Purchase Price, Earnest Money and Source of Funds [2] This paragraph sets out the purchase price and the amount of earnest money. The earnest money is to be deposited in the trust account as noted in the Contract immediately following a fully executed and delivered contract. The contract is designed for a cash transaction unless a Financing Supplement is attached.

Early on in the home search process it is advantageous to seek out a lender to get pre-qualified for a home loan. Although not required this process does allow you to understand the loan process and what price home you can qualify for. A home loan may be obtained from a mortgage company, credit union, or bank.

It is the responsibility of the lending institution to disclose State and Federal Regulations concerning the terms and conditions of the real estate loan for which the Buyer applies.

Should your contract be contingent on qualification of a FHA, VA or Conventional loan then a Financing Supplement should be attached to your contract. Per the OREC Contract you will have 5 days from the Time Reference Date to make application for a home loan deemed acceptable to you.

The provisions of the Financing Supplement require the following:

- 1) Review and approval of Buyer’s credit worthiness, income and funds necessary to Close.
- 2) Confirmation that Buyer has paid initial processing fees.
- 3) Property appraisal has been ordered.
- 4) Loan approval is not subject to sale or closing of Buyer’s current property unless stated elsewhere in this Contract.

The Buyer should be aware of “predatory lenders.” These lenders charge excessive fees or charge higher interest than is required based on Buyer’s credit history. To learn more about predatory lending, the Buyer can check the Department of Consumer Credit: website: www.okdocc.state.ok.us. The Buyer may also check with Consumer Credit (800) 448-4904 to determine if a mortgage broker is licensed. It is recommended that the Buyer investigate the reputation and stability of the lender. Also the Commission has a publication on its website at www.orec.ok.gov regarding predatory lending under Publications (left margin) entitled “Don’t be a Victim of Loan Fraud.”

Closing, Funding and Possession [3] The Buyer will be required to pay the balance of the purchase price with cash, cashier’s check, wire transfer, or other funds acceptable to the Seller. The Closing Company may not accept payment of the balance with the following: personal check, corporate check, employer’s check, investment account check or asset management check. Most closing companies will not accept cash because the companies have no way to secure the cash.

It is recommended that the Buyer contact the Closing Company prior to the Closing to determine the acceptable form of payment for the balance of the purchase price. The Buyer will need a photo identification (i.e. driver's license, etc.) at Closing.

Proceeds to the Seller from the Closing are generally paid by the Closing Company's check. A Closing Company's check may not be cashed by the bank as readily as a cashier's check. The bank may not release the funds to the Seller until the Closing Company's check clears. If Seller prefers a cashier's check, the Seller should contact the Closing Company at least 48 hours prior to the closing and request that Seller's proceeds be paid by cashier's check.

Accessories, Equipment and Systems [4] lists items that will remain with the Property. If there are additional item(s) the Buyer wants included, the item should be specifically listed under "Additional Inclusions." The Seller is bound only by what is stated in the Contract, and Buyer should not rely on anything other than what is written in the Contract. If the Seller is not including an item in the purchase price, the item(s) should be specifically listed under "Exclusions."

Time Periods as Specified in the Contract [5] shall commence on the Time Reference Date. The day after the Time Reference Date shall be counted as day one (1) of the Contract regardless of date the Contract is signed by the Buyer and Seller.

Residential Property Condition Disclosure Act [6] requires the Seller, unless exempt, prior to the Seller accepting an offer to purchase, to complete and make available to the Buyer a Residential Property Condition Disclosure Statement Form or Disclaimer Form. The Disclosure Form requires the Seller to disclose a vast amount of information regarding the Property.

The Disclaimer Form indicates that the Seller has no knowledge regarding the condition of the property; has no actual knowledge of any defects; and has never occupied the Property.

The Real Estate Licensee has the duty to obtain the Disclosure or Disclaimer form, and any amendments from the Seller and provide them to the Buyer prior to a Seller accepting an offer to purchase. The real estate licensee has the duty to disclose to the Buyer any defects in the Property actually known to the licensee which are not included in the disclosure statement or any amendment. The real estate licensee does not have a duty to conduct an independent inspection of the Property and has no duty to verify the accuracy or completeness of the statements made by the Seller. Both parties should read the “Residential Property Condition Disclosure Act” for other information. The publication can be found on the Real Estate Commission’s website at www.orec.ok.gov, Publications (left margin).

Investigations, Inspections and Reviews [7] The Buyer is encouraged to have a professional with appropriate qualifications conduct inspections of the entire property during the time period stated in the Contract. The Buyer should accompany the inspector during the inspection. The Buyer should not rely on a friend or themselves to make these inspections. The Contract language makes reference to a person the Buyer deems qualified—the Buyer should be aware that no one can receive compensation for performing an inspection unless they have obtained the appropriate license from the Construction Industries Board or other applicable State licensing board, commission or department. Accordingly, a person deemed qualified by the buyer to perform an inspection must perform the inspection without compensation unless they are appropriately licensed or regulated under Oklahoma law. The Oklahoma Home Inspection Licensing Act provides that a Home Inspection of an existing home can only be performed for compensation by a licensed home inspector or an architect as part of their practice. Certain other specialized inspections, which are not considered “Home Inspections” as defined in the Oklahoma Home Inspection Licensing Act, may be performed by individuals holding certain occupational licenses, licensed termite inspectors, individuals inspecting new homes, certain government employees, engineers, professional craftsmen performing limited inspections within the expertise of a specific area or persons qualified by education or training to conduct limited inspections. (For more information see Title 59, Oklahoma Statutes, Section 858-623.) To insure you are hiring a licensed home inspector, please contact the Construction Industries Board at 1-877-484-4424 or verify a home inspector’s license yourself at www.ok.gov/cib/.

A real estate licensee may provide the Buyer with a list of professionals from which to choose; however, the Buyer is responsible for choosing a qualified professional that accommodates the Buyer’s needs. Further, if a licensee refers a Buyer to a particular service for which the licensee will receive compensation due to such referral, the licensee is required to make written disclosure to the Seller and Buyer regarding such compensation.

In addition to the items listed, the Buyer can write in additional item(s) that are of concern to the buyer at the time of making the Offer and have these items investigated, inspected or reviewed. Further, if the Buyer plans to obtain a federally-insured loan (FHA), the Department of Housing and Urban Development requires the Buyer to be given a form that encourages obtaining a home inspection. The form can be obtained from the Commission’s website under Contract forms.

If the Property is not connected to a public sewer system (property that is on a septic tank, aerobic or lagoon system), Buyer should have the system inspected by a qualified expert. The Oklahoma Department of Environmental Quality performs inspections on existing septic systems for approximately [$200.00]. You can order this online at www.deq.state.ok.us, under environmental complaints & local service, online payments. If you need further information, please contact a local DEQ representative or call 1-800-869-1400.

Flood Notice. The City of Tulsa has an Ordinance that requires a Seller to notify a Buyer if the Seller's property is located in an area designated by the City as a flood hazard area. Other cities or communities may have similar ordinances. The seller needs to contact city officials or the designated floodplain administrator where the property is located to determine whether there is a similar flood notification ordinance.

It is Buyer's responsibility to investigate the property's flood zone, storm run off water, storm sewer backup or water history. To obtain a written Flood Hazard Evaluation based on the Federal Emergency Management Agency's Flood Insurance Rate Maps (FIRM's) contact the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Flood Plain Management Services (FPMS), 1645 South 101st East Avenue, Tulsa, Oklahoma 74128. The charge for this flood hazard evaluation is a minimum of $55.00. The Buyer can also call (918) 669-7197 and obtain an appointment with the Tulsa District, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers office and examine the maps and information. The FIRM's are also available on line at www.msc.fema.gov.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers handles all of the State of Oklahoma, and there are Floodplain Administrators in every community that participates in the National Flood Insurance Program to assist you also at no charge. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers can supply the Buyer with the name and phone number of the floodplain administrator in the community where the property is located. The Oklahoma Water Resources Board also maintains a list of all floodplain administrators on their website at www.owrb.ok.gov/hazard.

For more information on the nature of the water condition as it relates to the Property being purchased, the Buyer may contact neighbors to determine if they have noticed any water problems or the tax assessor's office in their community.

Flood Insurance. If there is a flood risk, the Lender may require the Buyer to obtain federal flood insurance. Flood insurance may also be purchased on personal property (carpets, drapes, furniture, etc), and the Buyer should seek advice from an insurance agent.

The Oklahoma Insurance Department regulates all insurance agencies, appraisers and title companies for fair pricing, discrimination practices, business practices and public awareness. Their contact information is www.oid.ok.gov and 1-800-522-0071.

Treatments, Repairs, Replacements and Reviews. The Treatments for Termites and/or other Wood Destroying Insects paragraph [7C1] specifically addresses the treatment of Termites and/or other Wood Destroying Insects. The Buyer, during the time period stated in the Contract, is advised to have the Property inspected for Termites and/or other wood destroying insects. Any repairs caused by termites or other wood destroying insects are addressed in the Treatments, Repairs, Replacements, and Reviews paragraph of the Contract.

The Treatments, Repairs, Replacements and Reviews paragraph [7C2] addresses what the Buyer should do if the Buyer [based on inspections] determines that items need to be treated, repaired and/or replaced due to their not being in normal working order. If costs [Repair Cap] to the Seller exceed those as agreed to in the Contract, and if a written agreement to pay any excess costs is not reached between the parties within the time as stated in the Contract, the Contract is null and void and the Earnest Deposit is to be returned to the Buyer.

Expiration of Buyer's Right to Cancel Contract [7D] paragraph contains several important notices to the Buyer:

- If the Buyer fails to perform Investigations, Inspections and Reviews, or fails to deliver a written list of items to be treated, repaired and replaced or cancel the Contract within the time period as specified in the Contract, the Buyer forfeits the right to cancel the Contract and accepts the Property in its condition regardless of its condition.
- Failure of the Buyer to obtain hazard insurance coverage on the Property within the time period as specified in the Contract shall not relieve the Buyer of the obligation to close the transaction. The Buyer is required to check into the availability and costs of coverage during the time period specified in the Contract (7A). In the event hazard insurance coverage is unavailable, or too costly to the Buyer, the Buyer may cancel the Contract under paragraph (7C2) within the appropriate time period.
- The Buyer cannot cancel the Contract after the time periods have expired as stated in the Contract if Buyer determines that the square footage calculation is different than previously stated. The Buyer is required to check into the square footage of the Property during the time period as specified in the Contract (7A). If the Buyer has issues with square footage, the Buyer may cancel the Contract under paragraph (7C2) within the appropriate time period.

Inspection of Treatments, Repairs and Replacements and Final Walk-

Through [7E]. The Contract allows the Buyer to inspect the Treatments, Repairs, and Replacements made to the Property, and the Buyer may perform a final walk-through regarding the overall condition of the Property prior to Closing. The Buyer shall pay for any cost incurred for any re-inspection, unless prohibited by the mortgage lender.

Risk of Loss [8] paragraph states that prior to transfer of Title or transfer of Possession, the risk of loss to the Property, shall be on the Seller; after transfer of Title or transfer of Possession, the risk of loss shall be on the Buyer.

Acceptance of Property [9] paragraph states, unless otherwise agreed to in writing, once the Buyer accepts title or takes possession of the Property, the Buyer shall have accepted the Property in its present condition.

No warranties, expressed or implied, by Sellers, Brokers and/or their associated licensees, with reference to the condition of the Property, shall be deemed to survive the Closing. An exception to this would be those warranties that may be available from a builder on new construction, manufacturer of a new product or a Residential Service Agreement [12] purchased by the Buyer or Seller for a limited time after the Closing.

Title Evidence [10] this paragraph outlines the Buyer's and the Seller's Expenses and time requirements for the parties. To accomplish this, the Seller must make the Abstract of Title available to the Title Closing Company so the abstract can be brought up to date. Buyer, at Buyer's expense, may obtain an Attorney's Title Opinion or a Commitment for issuance of a Title Insurance Policy.

There are two types of Title Insurance policies – a Lender's Policy and a Buyer's (Owner's) Policy. In most financed transactions, Title Insurance is required by the Lender (Lender's Policy) to cover the lender's loan. The Lender's Title Insurance does not protect the Buyer, even though the Buyer pays the title insurance premium. It is recommended that the Buyer, while purchasing the portion to protect the Lender also purchase the portion that protects the Buyer. An Owner's Title Policy for the Buyer costs little more.

Land or Boundary (Pin Stake) Survey. Buyer can pay for a Pin Stake Survey instead of the Seller paying for and providing the Buyer with a Mortgage Inspection Certificate; however, the Buyer must initial the space provided in the Contract. A Pin Stake Survey is more expensive and seldom used in today's platted residential real estate transactions. Note: A Pin Stake Survey shows boundaries of the Property with physically located stakes.

Buyer to Examine Title Evidence. Buyer may have the Title Evidence examined by an attorney who will render an Attorney's Title Opinion, or Buyer may obtain a Title Insurance Policy, or both.

Seller to Correct Issues with Title, Possible Closing Delay. The Seller is to make reasonable efforts to cure title defects that have been identified. This may cause the Closing Date to be extended as referenced in the Contract. Items such as utility easements serving the property, building and use restrictions of record, set back and building lines (unless the structure extends beyond the lines), zoning regulations, and reserved and severed mineral rights, are not considered objections to the Title.

Upon Closing, any existing Abstract(s) of Title, owned by Seller, shall become the property of Buyer.

Taxes, Assessments and Pro-rations [11] In calculating the taxes, assessments and pro-rations, the day of Closing shall be the responsibility of the Seller.

Residential Service Agreement [12] The parties decide whether or not a Residential Service Agreement (a limited home warranty) will be included in the purchase of the Property. If included, the Seller and/or Buyer can pay an amount toward the purchase of such agreement; however, Buyer is responsible for all costs in excess of agreed amounts as outlined in the service agreement. The real estate licensee may receive a fee for services performed in connection with a Residential Service Agreement. The real estate licensee must disclose in writing, to all parties, any compensation received for compensable services (as defined by RESPA) as part of the Residential Service Agreement. The Buyer and Seller are not required to purchase a home warranty and they may purchase a home warranty from any vendor of their choice. The Buyer is advised that the limited home warranty does not replace or substitute the property inspection rights the Buyer has and the Buyer is encouraged to perform all inspections.

Additional Provisions [13] The Additional Provisions paragraph allows the Buyer to address items of particular interest that are not already addressed in the Contract.

Mediation [14] If a Dispute arises regarding the Contract the Dispute shall be submitted to an Alternative Dispute Resolution System available in the county wherein the Property is located. Any Settlement Agreement shall be binding. In the event an agreement is not reached between the parties, the parties may pursue legal remedies as provided by the Contract. If the parties are unable to locate a system in the area, the parties can call the Early Settlement Program under the jurisdiction of the Oklahoma Supreme Court at 1 (405) 556-9802 or www.oscn.net and click on Alternative Dispute Resolution in the left margin.

Breach and Failure to Close [15] If a Breach of Contract occurs by either party, the prevailing party shall have remedies as stated in the Contract.

Incurring Expenses and Release of Earnest Money [16] This paragraph states that the Seller and Buyer, respectively, are responsible for any expenses incurred on their behalf and such shall be paid by the party incurring the expense and shall not be paid from the Earnest Money Deposit. The Earnest Money shall be disbursed in accordance with the Contract.

Delivery of Acceptance of Offer or Counteroffer [17] The parties authorize their respective Brokers to accept delivery of acceptance of the offer or counteroffer.

Non-Foreign Seller [18] FIRPTA Explained. FIRPTA is the Foreign Investment in Real Property Tax Act of 1980 (26 USC § 1445 et. Sec.) (“FIRPTA”). Under FIRPTA, nonresident Sellers are taxed similarly to U.S. real estate owners when selling their properties by placing the tax-remittance onus on the resident Buyer.

Buyer’s Obligations Under FIRPTA. In transactions with foreign persons, the Buyer MUST submit ten percent (10%) of the amount realized from the sale of the property to the Internal Revenue Service (“IRS”) within 20 days of closing. Generally speaking, the “amount realized” is the sales/purchase price of the Real Estate. The Buyer must determine the Seller’s status as a foreign or non-foreign person. If the Seller is foreign, but an exemption applies, then the Buyer must obtain proof of qualification to avoid IRS sanctions. If a Seller asserts that he/she is a non-foreign person, the Buyer should obtain an Affidavit of Non-Foreign Seller or a Qualified Substitute Statement.

A “Foreign Person” Under FIRPTA. A foreign person includes: a nonresident alien individual; a foreign corporation, partnership, trust, or estate; and any other person that is not a U.S. person. A nonresident alien is defined as an individual who is neither a U.S. citizen nor a resident of the U.S. within the meaning of section 770 1 (b) of the Internal Revenue Code. Two tests apply. Under the “green-card” test, an alien individual is a resident of the U.S. if he/she has been admitted for U.S. permanent residence (i.e., has a green card) at any time during the calendar year. Under the substantial-presence test, an alien individual is a resident for U.S. federal tax purposes if the alien is physically present in the U.S. for 183 days or more during the current calendar year. Alternatively, if the alien is physically present for at least 31 days during the current year, the alien may be treated as a U.S. tax resident in the current year under a three-year look-back test which requires an analysis of the alien’s presence over the preceding three years. If the alien is from a country that has an income tax treaty with the United States, the treaty may act to change these results.

Exceptions To Withholding Under FIRPTA. The following are the most common:

- 1) the property is purchased for less than $300,000 AND the Buyer is using the property as a primary residence;
- 2) the Seller has an IRS statement that specifies the Seller is exempt from withholding, is entitled to a reduced withholding amount, has provided adequate security for payment or has made arrangements with the IRS for payment;

- 3) the Seller provides the Buyer with a Non-Foreign Seller Affidavit;
- 4) a Qualified Substitute provides the Buyer with a Qualified Substitute Statement; or
- 5) the Seller is participating in a SIMULTANEOUS Section 1031 Exchange. In order for the home to be considered the Buyer's "primary residence" for purposes of the exception, the Buyer or a member of the Buyer's family must have definite plans to reside at the property for at least 50% of the number of days the property is used by any person during each of the first two 12-month periods following the date of transfer. When counting the number of days the property is used, do not count the days the property will be vacant.

Affidavit of Non-Foreign Seller (Form 2303) and Qualified Substitute Statement. The Affidavit of Non-Foreign Seller (Seller's Affidavit) is a sworn statement completed and signed by the Seller which includes the Seller's tax identification number (most often a Social Security number) and in which the Seller states under Penalty of Perjury that the Seller is not a foreign person as defined under FIRPTA, and thus, is not subject to tax withholding under FIRPTA. The Seller can provide a completed and signed Seller's Affidavit directly to the Buyer or to a Qualified Substitute. A Qualified Substitute is a person or entity as defined under FIRPTA that accepts a Seller's completed and signed Seller's Affidavit in the Buyer's stead. The Qualified Substitute retains the Seller's Affidavit and must provide the Buyer with a Qualified Substitute Statement. The Qualified Substitute Statement is a sworn statement made under Penalty of Perjury in which the Qualified Substitute states that the Qualified Substitute has a completed and signed Seller's Affidavit from the Seller. The Buyer must retain the Qualified Substitute Statement in his/her records. If the Buyer receives a Qualified Substitute Statement, the Buyer never receives the Seller's Affidavit, nor the Seller's tax identification number.

Execution By Parties [19] This paragraph relates to the date when the parties execute and sign the Contract.

Termination of Offer This paragraph indicates the date and time when the Buyer's Offer will terminate.

Earnest Money Receipt and Broker Acceptance This paragraph references the amount of money the Buyer pays as an Earnest Money Deposit when making an Offer. Further, the paragraph states that the Earnest Money Deposit will be held by the Listing Broker unless otherwise stated in the Contract [under Paragraph 2].

Additional Information Pertaining to the Contract

Broker Relationship Disclosure:

Transaction Broker. A broker can assist a party in a real estate transaction as a transaction broker with or without a written brokerage agreement. Even though a transaction broker can assist a party without the party entering into a written brokerage agreement with the broker, the broker is required to describe and disclose, in writing, the broker's role to the party. The written disclosure allows the party to be informed as to the services the party should expect to receive from the broker. The written disclosure by the broker must occur prior to the party signing a contract to purchase, lease, option or exchange real estate. The broker must also disclose that the party is not vicariously liable for the acts or omissions of the broker.

Single-Party Broker. A broker can work for the benefit of a party in a real estate transaction as a single-party broker but only through a written brokerage agreement. The written brokerage agreement must describe and disclose the broker's role to the party. The written disclosure by the broker must occur prior to the party signing a contract to purchase, lease, option or exchange real estate. The broker must also disclose that the party maybe vicariously liable for the acts or omissions of the single-party broker.

Confirmation of disclosure. The written disclosure as previously mentioned must be confirmed by each party in writing in a separate provision, incorporated in or attached to the contract.

Broker prohibited from providing services to both parties as a single-party broker – in-house transactions. If a broker provided services to a party [Seller] in a real estate transaction as a single-party broker; and thereafter, another associate in the firm provided services to a party [prospective Buyer] as a single-party broker, then the broker shall obtain the consent of both parties to change the relationship [from single-party broker relationship] to assist at least one or both parties under a transaction broker relationship. Title 59, Oklahoma Statutes, Section 858-355 addresses this situation and requires specific written disclosures to be given to both parties before the broker begins to perform services as a transaction broker to either one or both of the parties and the Single-Party Broker Disclosure Form includes this disclosure. However, in the event a broker assists one party as a single-party broker and the other party as a transaction broker, an additional form is required to be completed and is titled "Written Disclosure that Broker is a Transaction Broker for One Party and a Single-Party Broker for the Other Party."

Confidential Information. Certain information as stated in Title 59, Oklahoma Statutes, Section 858-357 shall be considered confidential and shall not be disclosed by a broker: 1) without the consent of the party disclosing the information unless consent to disclosure is granted by the party disclosing the information; 2) the disclosure is required by law; or 3) the information is made public or becomes public from a source other than the broker.

Broker's Compensation. The broker's compensation is a matter of negotiation between the Broker and Buyer or Seller, and is not fixed, controlled, recommended or maintained by the Oklahoma Real Estate Commission.

Environmental Risks. It is the Buyer's responsibility to determine whether there are environmental hazards such as hydrocarbon, chemical, carbon, asbestos, mold, methamphetamine, radon gas, lead-based paint, or any other toxic materials that are of concern. A good resource for this information is the Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) whose web site is www.deq.state.ok.us.

The Buyer may want to check with local authorities, police departments, etc. as these authorities have the location of properties where they have found a methamphetamine (Meth) lab on the premises. An information pamphlet on Methamphetamines is also available on the Oklahoma Real Estate Commission's Web site: www.orec.ok.gov

Lead-Based Paint Disclosure. With regard to properties built BEFORE 1978, HUD/regulations require that the Buyer receive the Seller's "Disclosure of Information on Lead-Based Paint and Lead-Based Hazards," the EPA booklet entitled "Protect Your Family From Lead in Your Home," and the following written warning:

"Every purchaser of any interest in residential real property on which a residential dwelling was built prior to 1978 is notified that such property may present exposure to lead from lead-based paint that may place young children at risk of developing lead poisoning. Lead poisoning in young children may produce permanent neurological damage, including learning disabilities, reduced intelligence quotient, behavioral problems, and impaired memory. Lead poisoning also poses a particular risk to pregnant women."

The Seller is required to provide the Buyer with any information on lead-based paint hazards from risk assessments or inspections in the Seller's possession and notify the Buyer of any known lead-based paint hazards.

If the Buyer elects to have a risk assessment for the presence of lead-based paint and/or lead-based paint hazards, the assessment is to be completed within the 10-day period for investigations, inspections, or review as stated in Paragraph 7 of the Contract. Any repairs to the property following the assessment are covered under Paragraph 7C2b of the Contract. For additional information please refer to the Commission's website www.orec.ok.gov, Publications (left margin).

EPA Rules on Pre-1978 Homes that are Renovated, Repaired and Painted

Beginning April 2010, contractors who perform renovation, repair and painting projects that disturb lead-based paint in homes, child care facilities, and schools built before 1978 must be certified and must follow specific work practices to prevent lead contamination.

If a homeowner performs renovation, repair, or painting work on their own residence, EPA's RRP rule does not apply to them; however, the rule would apply if the home they are repairing will be rented out to a tenant.

The rule was promulgated by the EPA because common renovation activities like sanding, cutting, and demolition can create hazardous lead dust and chips by disturbing lead-based paint, which can be harmful to adults and children.

Megan's Law. Oklahoma has enacted a law that requires sex offenders convicted of certain sex crimes to register with law enforcement. Record keeping and notification cover only those crimes committed since 1989. Potential homebuyers can check with law enforcement to obtain a list of those registered and living in a particular area by contacting their respective local police department or the Oklahoma Department of Corrections' website at www.doc.state.ok.us. (Click on Offenders, then on Sex Offender Lookup.)

Psychologically Impacted Property. Psychologically-impacted property is any property where certain circumstances, suspicions or facts may create emotional or psychological disturbances or concerns to a Buyer as outlined in Title 59, O.S., Section 858-513. If the items as listed in Section 858-513 are of concern to the Buyer, the law requires that the real estate licensee adhere to the following procedure:

1. The Buyer must be in the process of making a bona fide (written) offer.
2. The real estate licensee must receive a request in writing from the Buyer.
3. The Buyer's written request must state that such factor is important to the decision of the Buyer.
4. The real estate licensee shall make inquiry of the owner by submitting the written request to the owner.
5. With the consent of the Seller, the real estate licensee will furnish the Seller's response to the Buyer or Buyer's Broker.
6. If the Seller refuses to furnish the information requested, Seller's Broker shall so advise the Buyer or Buyer's Broker.
7. If the Buyer is requesting information concerning Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS) disease which falls under the privacy laws, the information can only be obtained in accordance with the Public Health and Safety Statute, Title 63, Oklahoma Statutes, 1992, Section I-502.2A.

Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act (RESPA) is a consumer protection statute, first passed in 1974. The purposes of RESPA are to help: 1) consumers become better shoppers for settlement services; and 2) to eliminate kickbacks and referral fees that unnecessarily increase the costs of certain settlement services.

Details about RESPA - Corresponding with the above purposes:

1. RESPA requires that borrowers receive disclosures at various times. Some disclosures spell out the costs associated with the settlement, outline lender servicing and escrow account practices and describe business relationships between settlement service providers.

2. RESPA also prohibits certain practices that increase the cost of settlement services. Section 8 of RESPA prohibits a person from giving or accepting any thing of value for referrals of settlement service business related to a federally related mortgage loan. It also prohibits a person from giving or accepting any part of a charge for services that are not performed. Section 9 of RESPA prohibits home Sellers from requiring home Buyers to purchase title insurance from a particular company.

RESPA in General - RESPA covers loans secured with a mortgage placed on a one-to-four family residential property. These include most purchase loans, assumptions, refinances, property improvement loans, and equity lines of credit. HUD's Office of RESPA and Interstate Land Sales is responsible for enforcing RESPA.

RESPA required disclosures — At the time of loan application - When borrowers apply for a mortgage loan, mortgage brokers and/or lenders must give the borrowers:

- a Special Information Booklet, which contains consumer information regarding various real estate settlement services. (Required for purchase transactions only) and
- a Good Faith Estimate (GFE) of settlement costs, which lists the charges the Buyer is likely to pay at settlement. This is only an estimate and the actual charges may differ. If a lender requires the borrower to use a particular settlement provider, then the lender must disclose this requirement on the GFE.
- a Mortgage Servicing Disclosure Statement, which discloses to the borrower whether the lender intends to service the loan or transfer it to another lender. It also provides information about complaint resolution.

Termites and other Wood Destroying Insects. Oklahoma is an area where damage from termites and other wood destroying insects can be a major concern for homeowners. It is strongly recommended that the Buyer have the property inspected by a licensed termite company. FHA/VA Financing requires a termite inspection report on all existing construction. If there is evidence of active infestation or evidence of prior termite damage, the property must be treated and/or the damage repaired prior to loan closing. If the termite report indicates possible structural damage or if appraiser makes a requirement, a structural inspection should be required.

Termite inspection companies are licensed by the Oklahoma Department of Agriculture; their Consumer Service Division can be contacted at 405-522-5981. Some termite companies do offer a warranty for their reports but there is no requirement for them to do so.
